Studying Contemporary Korea through Gender and Sexuality

ANTHR 4021/FGSS 4121/ASIAN 4421

Tuesdays & Thursdays, 11:40 AM – 12:55 PM, G01 Stimson Hall

Professor Eun-Shil Kim

Cornell East Asia Program
Korea Foundation
Distinguished Visiting Professor of Korean Studies

Professor, Department of Women’s Studies, and Director of Korea Women Institute,
Ewha Womans University,
Seoul, South Korea

3 credit hours.
This course explores contemporary Korean society and culture through the issues of gender and sexuality. By examining diverse readings and visual materials, this course aims to understand how the issues of gender and sexuality have been working as one of the organizing powers of modern Korean society in relation to family, state, popular culture, economy, globalization, etc.